

HEAT WAVE IS SWEEPING OVER ENTIRE NATION

Three Heat Fatalities Reported In Ohio And Detroit

By The Associated Press
It was the hottest day of the year in numerous eastern points yesterday (Friday) but thundershowers cooled most of the midwest.

Three heat fatalities were reported—one in Detroit and two in Ohio—as the mercury hit its 1935 peak for Boston at 90, Omaha at 95, New York at 87.2, Toronto at 86 and Chicago at 89. A sudden thundershower, accompanied by high wind, tumbled the mercury 20 degrees within a short time after the year's high was attained in the midwest metropolis. In some Boston suburbs, 93 degrees was recorded.

Kansas, hot spot of the nation's July 4th holiday with 104 maximums at Dresden and Garden City, continued to sizzle. Topeka steamed in 90 degree heat. Other highs were Wichita 92 and Kansas City 95. It was 93 at St. Louis and 92 at Oklahoma City.

High humidity in Ontario, eastern Quebec and in Detroit where the maximum was 91, combined with the heat to increase discomfort.

Heavy rains, reaching cloudburst proportions in north central Wisconsin, ended an incipient heat wave there. There were rains also, with precipitation up to two inches, over Minnesota, North Dakota and in the western provinces.

Three persons drowned in Minnesota lakes when winds upset their boats. A passenger train was derailed near Rainville, Mont., as a result of storm damage.

In Iowa, new flood losses were threatened along the lower Des Moines river. Floods on this stream, caused by excessive rains, have already taken five lives and done thousands of dollars worth of property damage.

Rains in Indiana this week wiped out the moisture deficiency for the first time this year.

In Baltimore normal temperature of 85 prevailed. It was 82 at Atlanta, 86 at Washington and 90 at Memphis.

Utilities Will Be Compelled To Absorb Sales Tax

Will Not Be Permitted To Pass Levy On To Consumers

Chicago, July 5.—(AP)—A ruling that utility companies would be compelled to absorb the three percent sales tax which went into effect July 1 and not pass the increase on to consumers was handed down by the Illinois Commerce Commission.

No utility company will be permitted to pass this tax on to consumers, said Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman of the commission, "except by and with the consent of the commission, and that consent will be granted or refused depending upon whether in our opinion the company can with justice absorb the tax."

Lindheimer, in his report, indicated that a close scrutiny of utility rates in individual cases would be made by the commission with a view toward determining whether the particular company had reduced rates to the point where the company's margin of profit is not felt to be excessive.

The new state law, the commissioners pointed out, did not specify how the three per cent sales tax was to be deducted from the earnings of the utilities. Consequently, the commission was flooded with inquiries.

Spurs Congress to Lobby Probe

Charges made on the floor of the House by Representative Ralph O. Brewster (Rep., Me.), above, that he had been threatened with stoppage of construction on the $36,000,000 Passamaquoddy Dam work relief project in his district unless he voted for the "death sentence" provision of the utility holding company bill brought House approval for an investigation of lobbying for and against the measure.

START WORK ON PLATFORM FOR 'THIRD PARTY'

Self-Styled Radicals Have Perfected Organizations

Chicago, July 5.—(AP)—First steps toward launching, naming, and building a platform for a proposed national "third party" were taken today at an "exploratory" gathering of self-styled radicals.

With 200 invitees from 30 states and an assortment of "left wing" groups, estimated as responding to the call issued by five congressmen, the rally started off to what it hoped would be rivalry with the major parties by electing Prof. Paul H. Douglas, of the University of Chicago, permanent chairman.

Alfred Bingham of New York, a son of former Senator Hiram Bingham, Connecticut Republican, was named secretary. Then the conference settled down to hear reports from various sections on what speakers termed a demand for a new party.

From the reports, delegates said the conference planned to nail together a declaration of principles tomorrow, issue a call for a national convention in the fall, and probably select a name for the proposed party.

Some divisions developed on this point, midwesterners urging "Farmer-Labor" and some easterners "The Commonwealth Party."

No mention of candidates was expected but Gov. Floyd Olson, Minnesota Farmer-Labor leader, who sent a greeting, had some support for eventual presidential nomination.

Howard Y. Williams, of St. Paul, national organizer for the Farmer-Labor political federation, said the conference "feels that capitalism is disintegrating" and that it wanted "a new party to build a new social order."

Other delegations, especially from farm states, urged "production for use" plank, a plan which Gov. Olson wrote he was "completely committed to."

Bingham described the delegates as "radicals of a typical American strain." They included unofficial representatives from the Minnesota Farmer-Laborites, Wisconsin Progressives, National Farm Holiday Association, Technocrats, Commonwealth Federation of New York, Washington State's Commonwealth Builders, Pennsylvania Security League, and the Socialist party. No communists were admitted.

Captain Callaghan said the men, seized Wednesday night and since held secretly for questionings, were found with spurious federal revenue stamps, faked American Telephone and Telegraph company gold notes and counterfeit equipment.

He said they gave their names as Max Eisen, P. Dave Pinkusohn, Roy Han and Louis R. and William Troeg, brothers.

Agents said they found Eisen and the Troegs in a combined residence and garage with 47 false $1,000 gold notes of the A. T. & T. and Pinkusohn and Illian in a printing establishment with 700 counterfeit revenue stamps and steel plates for their manufacture.

2 WOMEN ON JURY TO TRY MRS. WALEY

Weyerhaeuser Kidnap Trial Opens At Tacoma, Wn.

Tacoma, Wash., July 5.—(AP)—Blonde Margaret Waley, haggard and fidgety, went to trial today for the $200,000 kidnaping of Little George Weyerhaeuser and saw a jury selected quickly to decide her unusual case. Two of the jurors are women.

Half a dozen veniremen said they already had formed an opinion. One blurted out that, from whom he had heard he believed the 19-year-old wife of Kidnaper Harmon M. Waley guilty.

Nevertheless, the jury was made up in an hour and 25 minutes—the speed surprising even Federal Judge E. E. Cushman, presiding.

While the pale defendant chewed gum and twined a green-bordered handkerchief in her fingers, 11 men (one an alternate) and two women were chosen. The government used only one of its six peremptory challenges. The defense used three of the ten allowed.

Sworn in, the jury was excused in custody of bailiffs until next Tuesday when testimony of the government's 70 to 75 witnesses is to begin.

Mrs. Waley evinced little interest. Her bobbed hair was combed, but apparently had not been trimmed since her arrest June 8 in Salt Lake City when she was caught trying to pass one of the ransom bills. She wore no makeup, not even face powder.

Her jury was finally constituted included:

A. B. Robinson, salesman; William Barrett, insurance agent; Thomas Vindling, printer; B. F. Tanner, shipbuilder; A. C. Palmer, trainman; Carl West, orchardist; Mrs. Catharine A. Musgrove, widow; Fred Stevens, retired cleaner and diver; Mrs. C. M. Hammond, housewife; E. M. McMillan, druggist; B. McCarty, trainman; C. R. Munyan, auto painter and Frank Barber, alternate, meat dealer.

Although government authorities originally said Mrs. Waley and her husband made a "full confession" details of the case against the stolid young woman remained undisclosed and the government's witness list secret.

Mrs. Waley, like her husband, is charged with violation of the federal "Lindbergh law" and with conspiracy to kidnap.

John P. Dore, chief attorney for Mrs. Waley, previously said the only defense witnesses would be the girl herself and her husband, who pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 45 years in prison.

Dore said the main point of the defense would be Waley's statement in court that his girl wife knew nothing about the abduction until two days after he and the fugitive convict, William Mahan, snatched the boy.

George Weyerhaeuser was released near Issaquah, Wash. June 1 after his father, J. P. Weyerhaeuser, Jr., timber magnate, had paid the ransom.

Relief Workers Hours Reduced By H. Hopkins

Maximum Number Of Hours For Month Cut From 180 To 140

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—Holding firmly to the $19 to $24 a month wage scale on work relief projects he carries out—despite labor protests—Harry L. Hopkins today reduced the maximum number of hours from 180 a month to 140.

Officials interpreted his order, which permits not more than eight hours work in any one day or 70 hours in the half month periods on which wages will be based, as slowing up the program but permitting a higher proportion of heavy projects.

They explained that by reducing the hours worked, limiting supplies of materials can be made to go that much further. In some quarters another intent—to make sure the number of projects available would "go around"—was mentioned. It was said, however, that with half the 2,500,000 who now have relief jobs to be absorbed in the new program, the difficulty was not so much to find enough projects as to get durable ones.

Officials estimated that Hopkins' order would apply to more than 2,000,000 of the 3,500,000 President Roosevelt hopes to put to work.

Scott and family, James Root and family, Rachel and Ida Mae Scott, George A. Wheeler, and Walter Wheeler and family of Jacksonville.

U. S. Rejects Ethiopia's Plea That America Enter Italo-Ethiopian Dispute

Ann Avoids Jail for Contempt

Ann Harding's screen appearances usually create a bit. But her appearance in court as pictured here served another purpose: it removed the possibility of her having to go to jail. Contempt of court proceedings, which she had incurred by refusal to answer an attorney's questions, were dropped when she showed up in court at Los Angeles to give a deposition in her fight with ex-husband Harry Bannister over custody of their daughter, Jane, 7.

PEORIA YOUTH ENTERS PLEA NOT GUILTY

Gerald Thompson Loses His First Brush With Attorney

Peoria, Ill., July 5.—(AP)—Gerald Thompson today pleaded innocent to a charge of having murdered pretty Mildred M. Hallmark and in a brief court session which followed lost his first brush with State's Attorney E. V. Champion, who announced he would seek the death penalty for Thompson.

Circuit Judge Joseph E. Dally denied four defense motions after the plea was entered.

Smartly dressed in new light trousers and a white shirt, Thompson was hurried into court by three deputy sheriffs. Through his attorney he denied killing Miss Hallmark, whose body, the neck broken, was found in a cemetery the morning after Thompson allegedly attacked her.

Thurman told the court there were certain phases of the charges against his client that were not "cleared up," and that he needed funds for an "investigation." The motion, one of the four made, was denied.

State's Attorney Champion and Thurman will appear in court next Wednesday when a defense request for continuance of the case until September will be argued.

Thurman said today that public opinion against Thompson was so strong that a fair trial would be impossible on July 22, the date set at his client's arraignment. The state's attorney declared he opposed any continuance beyond that date.

The defense has been given a "reasonable time" to prepare a case, he said.

Thompson displayed little emotion in the court room. As he left he discussed the arrest of his brother, Victor, charged with taking indecent liberties with a child.

"Victor doesn't need a prison term," he said. "He needs a good kick in the pants."

PARDON BOARD TO MEET

Springfield, Ill., July 5.—(AP)—The state pardon board will meet here Monday afternoon to consider an appeal for clemency for three East St. Louis men under sentence of death for a murder. Execution has been twice postponed for the convicted prisoners—John Krul, Van Euren Dedmon and Edward Bailing.

BUILDING COLLAPSES

Chicago, July 5.—(AP)—Five minutes before 20 employees of the Douglas Auto Parts Company were to report to work today, the three story brick building which housed the firm collapsed, leaving only a part of one wall standing.

By Lloyd A. Lehrbas
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, July 5.—(AP)—The United States in effect rejected tonight the plea of Ethiopia that this country invoke the Kellogg-Briand peace pact in an effort to settle the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Following a conference between President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, the state department sent a quick reply to Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, through the American charge d'affaires at Addis Ababa. It made clear, in diplomatic language, that this country would take no immediate, if any, part of the Afro-European tangle.

The note said this government was "gratified" that the League of Nations "has given its attention to the controversy." It added that the United States would be "loath to believe" that either Ethiopia or Italy would seek to settle the dispute by other than pacific means. It made no mention, however, of any possible action by this country.

The text of the note to the charge d'affaires follows:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your imperial majesty's note of July 3, 1935, and to inform your imperial majesty that I immediately communicated its contents to my government. I have been instructed by my government to reply to your note as follows:

"My government, interested as it is in the maintenance of peace in all parts of the world, is gratified that the League of Nations, with a view to a peaceful settlement, has given its attention to the controversy which has unhappily arisen between your government and the Italian government and that the controversy is now in process of arbitration.

"My government hopes that, whatever the facts or merits of the controversy may be, the arbitral agency dealing with this controversy may be able to arrive at a decision satisfactory to both of the governments immediately concerned.

"Furthermore, and of great importance, in view of the provisions of the pact of Paris, to which both Italy and Abyssinia are parties, in common with 61 other countries, my government would be loath to believe that either of them would resort to other than pacific means as a method of dealing with this controversy or would permit any situation to arise which would be inconsistent with the commitments of the pact."

Teachers Wind Up Denver Conclave

Leave Behind Plea for Fund to Aid Schools; Scrap Over Freedom

Denver.—(AP)—Thousands of convention-weary teachers scamped into the Rocky Mountains for a tardy holiday today as the National Education Association stepped forward under new policies and new leaders.

During a Fourth of July session that lasted far past midnight the association elected Miss Agnes Samuelson of Shenandoah, Iowa's superintendent of public instruction as president and tentatively chose Portland, Ore., for the 1936 meeting.

After heated scraps, especially on the subject of academic freedom, the delegates left behind a record of this action.

An appeal for $500,000,000 immediate federal aid for education, establishment of a committee to fight to free the teacher from restrictions upon his right to teach all sides of any controversial question, a pledge to teach that American democracy is the "best form of government yet devised by the minds of men," and expressed opposition to compulsory military training.

SENT TO PRISON

St. Louis, July 5.—(AP)—Hicks W. Clayton, 24, who robbed a postoffice at the point of a shotgun, and Robert H. Bondurant, 20, who looted registered mail sacks while an assistant postmaster, each received prison sentences today.

Clayton, who pleaded guilty to robbing the St. Louis postoffice of $87 last January 26, was given a 25 year term, which was mandatory because he threatened postmaster Murray Randall with his gun.

Federal Judge Charles E. Davis sentenced Bondurant to five years in prison after he also pleaded guilty.

Bondurant was paroled June 1, 1934, to the postmaster at Hunter, Mo., by Governor Guy B. Park of Missouri. Previously Bondurant had been convicted of burglary.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Villa Grove, Ill., July 5.—(AP)—The body of E. E. Vandever, 35 year old employee of the C. and E. I. railroad shops here, was found hanging in the garage at Villa Grove today by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Earl Vandever. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide. Vandever had been injured last night in an automobile accident and members of his family said he was suffering from nervous shock.

RAIL PRESIDENT DIES

Cleveland, July 5.—(AP)—John J. Bernt, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio and Pere Marquette Railroads and chief advisor to the Van Swerlin brothers, died today at his home after a short illness.

MASSED TROOPS ARE HELD READY THRUOUT BRAZIL

Fear Commemoration Of Rebel Deaths May Flare Up

By RAFAEL ORDORICA
Rio De Janeiro, July 5.—(AP)—Massed troops were held ready at vital points throughout Brazil today as the government, beset by right and left wing extremists, watched carefully the death of 18 young rebels 13 years ago develop disorders.

With outdoor meetings banned by the chief of police, the left wing Alianca Libertadora Nacional—whose leaders deny it is communist of trend—scheduled several mass meetings within doors.

At the same time, authorities kept wary eyes on the Fascist integralist action which now claims 400,000 Green-Shirted adherents. The integralists have drawn the sharp fire of the Liberator Alliance.

A score of leftist leaders were arrested on precaution against syndicalist outbreaks on the anniversary of the death of 18 young insurgents who marched out of Copacabana Fortress into a hall of government fire in 1922.

Troops were held in readiness throughout the first military region, which includes the Federal district and the states of Rio De Janeiro, and Espirito Santo. Police were reported vigilant in Sao Paulo's industrial centers.

Cabinet meetings and consequent military, naval and police precautions have resulted during recent months from definite charges that the Liberator Alliance, whose numbers police place at "several tens of thousands," was responsible for strikes and disorders. Similar measures have been taken to curb Fascist activities.

Little Heiress Can Spend Only $30,000 Yearly

Surrogates Court Budgets Brenda Frazier $45,750 For 18 Months

New York, July 5.—(AP)—"Tina," $200,000 "Vacations," $5,250 "Dentist," $3,600 "Frocks," $5,400.

These were some of the items approved in surrogates court today as necessary expenses during the coming 18 months for 14-year old Brenda Diana Frazier, in the upper income class brackets with an annual income estimated at approximately $107,000.

The order budgeted to Brenda $45,750 for living and schooling expenses during the year and a half, June 21, 1935, to Dec. 1, 1936.

The order was made at the request of her mother, Mrs. Frederic N. Walriss, who is the daughter of Sir Frederic Williams-Taylor, former vice president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal, and divorced wife of the late wealthy Frank Duff Frazier of New York and Palm Beach.

While the little heiress is limited to about $30,000 a year for personal living expenses, she gets only $2 a week for pocket money. Approximately half her annual income goes back into principal, after all expenses and taxes.

The prospects are, the court estimates indicated, that by the time she reaches her majority, Brenda's income will be around $150,000 a year, which stated in the court petition as the amount of her father's annual living expenses.

MRS. W. EVANS PASSES AWAY AT SON'S HOME

Winchester Woman Dies In Detroit Friday Evening

Winchester, Ill., July 5.—Mrs. Walter Evans, 48, who resides on a farm five miles west of Winchester, died Friday night at 8:30 o'clock at the home of her son, Floyd Evans, at Detroit, Ill.

Mrs. Evans was visiting her son when she was stricken with pneumonia, and was ill only a few days.

She was born and raised in Scott county and has spent her entire life in this vicinity.

Mrs. Evans is survived by her husband and three sons, Floyd Evans of Detroit and Glenn and Clayton of near Winchester.

She also leaves her mother, Mrs. Thomas Edmonson of Winchester. The remains were removed to the Danner Funeral Home and will be removed to the home Saturday morning.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Threat Charged in Utility Fight

Accusation by Rep. Ralph O. Brewster (Rep. Me.) that Thomas G. Corcoran, above, RFC attorney and co-author of the utility holding company bill, warned Brewster construction of the Passamaquoddy Dam in Brewster's district might be held up if he failed to vote for the bill's "death sentence" was followed by House authorization for a searching inquiry of lobbying for and against the measure.

ALLEGED KILLER OF GIRL ON HIS WAY TO DETROIT

Merton W. Goodrich Demands "When Do We Eat"

New York, July 5.—(AP)—Querulously demanding "when do we eat," Merton W. Goodrich, gaunt-faced trap drummer, was bundled aboard a train early tonight and taken back to Detroit to face a murder indictment for the psychopathic slaying of 11-year-old Lillian Gallahee.

With him was his wife, Florence, returned as a material witness.

Accompanying them were Detroit detectives, a police matron and prosecuting Attorney Duncan McCrea, carrying with him what he said was a full confession by Goodrich and a "trunkful of evidence."

Mrs. Goodrich, who said she was a "farm girl" from Guernsey county in southern Ohio, showed her first emotion when she bade goodbye to New York Detectives John Kaiser and Charles McGowan. Tears streamed from her eyes as she shook hands, saying:

"You've been a awful good to us." Goodrich, pale nervous and unshaven, drummed his fingers nervously on his knees as he repeated an admission made earlier to McCrea that he had assaulted five other little girls.

"But I never had a fight with them," he insisted.

Goodrich reiterated that he was glad to go back and get it over, but added that his chief worry was to have his wife freed of suspicion.

Shortly before the departure, detectives said they had found a 15-foot length of rope in the Goodrich Greenwell Village apartment, which appeared similar to that used to trap up the body of the Gallahee girl before it was stuffed in a trunk.

"That was a clothes line," said Mrs. Goodrich, when told about it.

Blame Incendiary For Capitol Fire

Springfield, Ill., July 5.—(AP)—State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas said tonight that the Capitol building fire of Thursday morning was the work of an incendiary. Fire inspectors assigned to investigate indicated an arrest will be made tomorrow.

"We are satisfied the fire was not an accident," Coultas said after inspecting the room in the south wing where the blaze originated. Damage was estimated at $2,000.

BAN BOOK

Vatican City, July 5.—(AP)—"A Hundred and a Hundred and a Hundred and a Hundred Pages From the Secret Book of Gabriel d'Annunzio. Attempter of Death" today was placed on the index of prohibited books of the Roman Catholic church.

The Holy Office banned the book, the latest work of the famous Italian poet, saying: "Its immorality competes with its affirmations of errors often pagan and blasphemous."

WONT GIVE OPINION

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings declined today to give a house ways and means subcommittee a flat opinion as to whether the Guffey Coal Stabilization bill was constitutional.

He suggested, however, there was sufficient argument on both sides of the question to warrant congress in passing the bill and leaving its constitutionality up to the courts.

HOUSE UPSET OVER NEW TAX RATE TANGLE

Unable To Obtain Any Guidance From White House

By Clarence M. Wright,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, July 5.—(AP)—Inability to obtain White House guidance on the rates to be imposed under President Roosevelt's wealth-tax program today left the House tax-clerk drafters assertedly puzzled and bewildered.

Of the men who talked with the president for two hours and a half yesterday, no two concurred on what the tax rates should be. The only apparent concrete determinations were these:

1. That the bill should be pushed for final enactment this session.

2. That it should be limited to levies on gifts, inheritances, corporation income and big individual incomes.

3. That it probably would be necessary to increase rates on incomes below $100,000 a year to get an appreciable amount of revenue.

Varying attitudes were expressed by Democratic members of the House ways and means committee on the fact that the president would not agree to any specific rate proposals. One said such guidance would "be helpful in that we can draft a scientific bill without operating within narrow limits." Another, however, remarked privately he was "amazed" that the president should outline a tax plan and then have no specific proposals.

Literally scores of alternatives offered themselves to House ways and means committee. They arranged to hear Secretary Morgenthau at initial hearings Monday to discuss a few of them.

One of the big problems, for instance, was how low into individual income brackets the new taxes should go. Members vehemently denied published reports that they were considering increased rates on incomes as small as $5,000 a year.

Their general belief appeared to be that sufficient money could be raised by increasing the taxes on incomes of $100,000 and over. But complicating even that situation was the fact that there was not even an agreement so to fix the rates that a stipulated amount of money might be raised.

Even should the committee determine how much money it wants to raise, it was pointed out, it still will have the additional problem of deciding whether to raise most of that from inheritance, gift, corporation income or individual income levies.

Uninvited Guests

Fifteen Americans were deported from Cuba the past week after a stay of only 24 hours in the island, which time they spent under surveillance in the immigration station. The Cuban government explained that it had reason to believe the Americans had come to disturb public order and interfere in Cuban affairs.

The group formed a commission named by the American Writers' League and headed by Clifford Odets, young liberal writer, to investigate labor conditions in Cuba and bring back an "impartial report." Odets was much incensed at the action of the Cuban authorities and declared such a report would hardly be necessary. He dubbed the government a military dictatorship and said the American visitors were kept under guard, with machine guns looking at them most of the time.

Just what the visitors intended to do is not known, but their leader is a writer of Leftist plays, and they bear the stamp of ultra-liberals. Just now Cuba is ruled by a conservative dictatorship under President Mendieta and Col. Batista of the Cuban army. Cuba has had enough of revolution and does not care for any further agitation; hence the deportation of the uninvited investigators.

The United States would do well to look up some of the advocates of strange forms of government in Europe who visit our shores and spread propaganda. Cuba does not wish any suggestions from abroad as to how Cuban affairs should be conducted. The United States might well profit by this incident and do a little deporting on her own account.

China Will Win

As Japan seeks to take over the resources and wealth of China and to use the immense man-power of her people, the present leaders of the movement might be surprised if they could look into the future and see the ultimate disappearance of the Japanese nation. After a few generations China will learn the lesson of Japan's success; she will absorb Jap energy and copy Jap methods of doing things. Her 400,000,000 people will swallow the 65,000,000 in the smaller nation.

But in so doing China will be the gainer. A people that have slept for centuries, bound down by ancestor worship and superstition will find new life. This may take a century or so, but if Japan persists in her intention to rule the vast Chinese nation, it will surely happen. History will not be cheated of its little joke.

Long Live The Milkman's Horse

From The Woman's Home Companion
If you have been worrying about the milkman's horse, don't bother. About his future, we mean, for he's all set. Professional machine-age worries have visions of the motor truck driving all the horses to the old-age pastures. It is indeed doing just that on many a highway and byway. But the peculiar merits of the horse for the distribution of milk are almost as great as those of the cow for its production. The horse is cheaper and starts and stops more easily than a motor truck. A car that has to stop at every third house on the block eats up a lot of gas. And a motor truck has to carry expensive insurance, while a horse—the milkman's horse at least—can be pretty well counted on not to run over anybody.

The milkman's horse learns the route as the machine never can. He plods ahead a hundred feet and then puts his feet down and won't lift them again until the clink of glass tells him the delivery has been consummated. They say that a new man on a milk route has an easy time of it because all he has to do is wait for the horse to stop, then run up to the nearest door and look in the bottle for a note telling him how many quarts and whether any eggs are wanted this morning.

And now the milkman's horse is to have rubber shoes, and big balloon tires on the wheels—all for the sensitive nerves of the Light Sleepers. While we're about it, we might as well silence even the milkman himself by lining his bottle-rack with rubber so he won't clink as he goes up the path. And there you are—man and beast, faithful indispensable punctual pair, gliding through the gray dawn noiselessly like the morning mist, like wraiths, like ghostly Spirits of Milk, laying unheard a pure white tribute on every doorstep in town, a daily surprise for each slug-abed. Everybody is pleased about it except that exceptional combination, the Early Rising Heavy Sleeper who got into the habit of relying on old Clap-clop to waken him.

You'd Miss The News

A live weekly paper recently gave its advertisers a striking lesson in the value of placing their messages in newspapers, rather than in handbills. The paper put out an "extra" containing only advertising. The columns usually devoted to news were left blank and staring, with only a few headlines to make the reader wonder what articles might have been written beneath them.

On the front page the publisher gave a letter of explanation in which he said in part:

"With all the local news, personal items, and live, interesting features looked out of the columns of this paper it is as lifeless and as cold as a hand bill.

"If it cluttered up your porch every week along with four or five other sheets just like it, would you read it with the interest hand bills are expected to create?"

"The answer is no! You would crumple it up and give it the same considerations a hand bill receives—the wastebasket."

"Would your neighbor borrow it and spend two hours reading just advertising?" Would he give it to a friend to read and eventually mail it to a relative living in Padooka?"

"Again the answer is no!"

"The blank space in this paper, the margins of the advertisements, contained the names of 1191 people (we actually counted them). Human beings who went places, did things, and then read this paper from cover to cover to find their name in print—close to the advertisements they could not help but read."

"No one ever looked for his name, the name of a relative, the obituary of his mother-in-law, or an account of a roadside wedding, on the margin of a hand bill."

SO THEY SAY

There is a happy medium for a woman, somewhere between "flat" and "fat." I think most screen stars have found that medium.

—Dolores Del Rio.

It would be difficult to discover, by geography, age, or income, a definite group anywhere in the country who could be depended upon to be dumb about styles.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

To the Editor of The Jacksonville Daily Journal:
Beverly Hills, Calif., July 5.—Well, had breakfast in Ft. Worth. Did kinder want to go on and see what the boys in congress was doing as there was a plane standing there that would have put me there in the afternoon, another leaving for Brownsville, Texas, and Old Mexico. I looked longingly at it. Another leaving for Tulsa and Claremore. I did want to go on it. Finally settled on the one for California, as that's what I should do, come on home. In here in the afternoon, fifteen hundred miles. It don't take you long to go a long distance and get back nowadays. Lots of hollering among the rich and near rich. We are living in a great time, something to get excited about every minute.

Social Planning vs. Rugged Individualism Again

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Brewster Lashed as 'Turncoat' by New Deal Chiefs

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—This is a story of how a big joke was played on the New Dealers, of the way a congressman can most effectively guarantee himself a miserable future in Washington, and of the explosion of the theory that there is any such thing as a progressive Republican congressman from the east.

The hero of it all is Congressman Ralph O. Brewster of Maine. A former governor with a reputation as a foe of the "power trust."

Brewster is now celebrated as the man who precipitated a House investigation by charging that Thomas G. Corcoran of RFC had threatened stoppage of Maine's famous Passamaquoddy project in case Brewster didn't vote for the administration's proposal to dissolve the biggest public utility holding companies.

The story of how Brewster reached his present position is remarkable and instructive.

It demonstrates the way things happened to congressmen in the history-making struggle between the administration and the "power trust" lobby over the holding company bill, in which the New Dealers and the congressional progressives had taken Brewster to their bosoms.

Fought Insult Rule
Some years ago Samuel Insull went to Maine with the intent of adding it to his empire. His agents obtained passage of a legislative bill permitting export of electric power from the state. Brewster, as governor, vetoed the bill.

Thereafter, Brewster ran for the Senate and was defeated by the power and other interests. But last year he was elected to the House over a Democratic described as a "100 per cent power trust man."

Working closely with Brewster in his campaigns was Ernest H. Gruening, once crusading editor of the progressive Portland (Me.) Evening News.

When Brewster came to Washington, Gruening, now director of the division of territories and insular possessions, introduced him to other liberals and soon the congressman became a popular figure at gatherings of New Dealers, who welcomed the strange spectacle of an eastern Republican congressman who professed to agree with their progressive views.

He became the associate of independent congressmen, joining in their secret councils which discussed strategy on the holding company bill.

Welcomed as Liberal
Brewster was recommended to Roosevelt as a progressive who merited support in the next campaign and could be counted on as a New Dealer in current congressional fights.

Brewster seemed pleased, especially so when he was allowed to work with Corcoran, co-author of the holding company bill and one of the most active and effective brain trusters behind the scene on legal aspects of the Passamaquoddy power project, the administration's big work-relief award to Maine.

Progressives first began to worry about Brewster a few days ago, when the Bland-Copeland merchant marine bill was up. They opposed it, labeling it a steal for the ship operators and shipbuilders.

Brewster, a member of the merchant marine committee, signed a minority report exhorting the bill, but merely voted present on the vote

Local Delegate to B. & P. Convention

Miss Zoe Tyrrell Visits on Puget Sound; Goes to Seattle Meeting

Miss Zoe Tyrrell of Jacksonville, who is the official delegate of the Business and Professional Woman's club to the Northwest Biennial convention of the National Federation, July 14-20, is visiting on Puget Sound, before going to the convention.

Many prominent national groups of women are "trekking" toward this conference city. Indications are that they are watching trends that would try to stop the progress of women in America. It is the plan to discuss the economic life of the country.

A souvenir of the Biennial announced as a special feature will be "The Washington Business Woman," with a foreword by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, including a picture of the First Lady of the Nation. This will be a pictorial edition and will be of interest to all clubs.

Large Acreage From L. B. Trotter Estate Sold Here Friday

Alton Interests Buy One Farm and Orleans Man Purchases Second

More than 600 acres of Morgan county land was sold at public auction at the court house Friday for a price below $80 an acre. The land belonged to the L. B. Trotter estate and is located northeast of Jacksonville in a rich farming community.

Much of it is underlaid with gas, and a well on one of the farms is now in active operation. In the boom times this land was worth $300 to $400 an acre.

The main farm of 429 acres, located three miles north of Orleans and the center of the gas field, was purchased by Duncan Bros. of Alton for $77.50 per acre. The concern buying the land is in the railway contracting business.

The second farm, consisting of 187½ acres, was purchased by W. A. Kinnett of Orleans for $66.50 per acre. It is located six and a half miles northeast of this city on the old state road.

C. M. Strawn was the auctioneer. The sale was attended by a large crowd of interested farmers, and bidders were plentiful.

Suicide Verdict is Returned in Death Of Railroad Victim

Jury Hears Evidence from Engineer and Sister of Dead Young Woman

A coroner's jury at noon yesterday returned a verdict that Mrs. Carl Borders came to her death from injuries sustained when she was struck Thursday by an Alton Railroad motor coach, a short distance north of Nichols park crossing. The jury added its belief that the death was suicide.

The inquest was held at the Guilham Funeral Home with but two witnesses, Engineer Harvey L. Sorrells of Roodhouse, eye witness of the tragedy, and Mrs. James L. Woods, sister of the deceased young woman.

Sorrells said the motor coach was traveling north at about 40 miles an hour. He blew the whistle at the park crossing and the bell was ringing.

He saw a woman walking south at the side of the track and when the train was about 20 feet away, she stepped on the track and bent over. The engineer blew the whistle when the woman stepped on the track and applied the air brakes at the same time. The train traveled about 300 feet before it stopped.

The engineer said the body was under the baggage section of the train, having been dragged for some distance.

Mrs. Woods testified that her sister has been in poor health and under a physician's care. Wednesday night Mrs. Borders retired at 9:30 o'clock at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ella Phelps, 1103 South East street, where she was missed an hour later. An all night search followed.

Jurors at the inquest were Edward Osterholt, Francis Plour, Lorenz Bradshaw, Herman Holmes, Murval Smith and Randall Doyle.

Mrs. Borders' husband in Casper, Wyo., has been notified and is expected to arrive here Sunday night.

Rev. F. M. Rule Dies At Methodist Home; Services Saturday

Veteran Minister Had Been Ill Several Years; Was Clergyman 60 Years

Rev. F. M. Rule, for nearly 60 years prominent in Methodism in Minnesota and Illinois conferences, died at midnight Thursday night at the Methodist Old People's Home in Quincy. He was more than 60 years old.

The veteran clergyman, who came to this city after retiring from the Minnesota conference, had been in declining health for several years. After the death of Mrs. Rule three years ago he resided at the Methodist Home, where he had been under hospital care.

For a number of years Rev. Rule was a familiar figure in Jacksonville, particularly at religious gatherings where he was ever ready to assist regular pastors. His benign face and kindly ways will be long remembered by many Jacksonville residents.

The decedent served a number of churches in Minnesota and was a district superintendent there. After coming to this community he served as a supply pastor at Durbin, Asbury, Providence, Riggston and Roodhouse Methodist churches. He also occupied the pulpit of State Street church for a period of time when the church was without a pastor.

When he retired from active ministry Rev. Rule came to this city, the home of his wife, and for some time they made their home at the Old Dunlap hotel on West State street which was managed by their son, the late John M. Rule.

Rev. Rule is survived by one brother, one granddaughter, Mrs. Sara Lee Sandberg of this city and an adopted daughter, Lulabelle Libby. The remains will be brought to Jacksonville, and services will be held at two o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Williamson Funeral Home. Dr. C. F. Baker, superintendent of the Quincy Home, will officiate, and interment will be made in Diamond Grove cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Rule.

Railroad Officer Fights Local Man, Stricken and Dies

Sudden Death of Officer at Beardstown Blamed on Over-exertion

Beardstown—Earl Gaughenbaugh, 45, assistant special agent for the C. B. & Q. Railroad company here, died suddenly at 1 p. m. Thursday in the office of Police Magistrate Roland B. Rohrer at the city hall building, a half hour after an encounter with Marion Graves, Jacksonville, whom he arrested in the railroad company's depot here.

Gaughenbaugh, who was known to have been subject to heart attacks, is believed to have been stricken after the tussle in which he exerted himself to a great extent.

Graves is being held in the Beardstown city jail on charges of trespassing on railroad property. More serious charges may be made against him following a coroner's inquest.

Gaughenbaugh, who has been in Beardstown about six months, was called at noon to arrest Graves at the depot. Graves, according to Charles McNabb, a baggage man, resisted the officer and the two fought for about fifteen minutes before the officer finally placed him under arrest. The baggage man said he tried to part the fighters but was not successful.

At the police station after Gaughenbaugh was explaining to the police magistrate the charges he wished to have pushed in the Graves case when he suddenly fell over backwards. He died a few minutes later.

The body was taken to the Clipse Funeral Home here.

Decedent came here from Kewanee six months ago as an assistant to Peyton Campbell, special agent. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

"We have not outgrown our constitution and it is not on outworn instrument," declared Carl E. Robinson in a "Constitution" address at the Rotary Club meeting at the Peacock Inn yesterday.

Mr. Robinson was introduced by Dr. S. N. Clark, chairman of the program committee.

The local attorney declared that the constitution was not a spontaneous production but was adopted after months of discussion by the most remarkable group of men ever assembled on American soil.

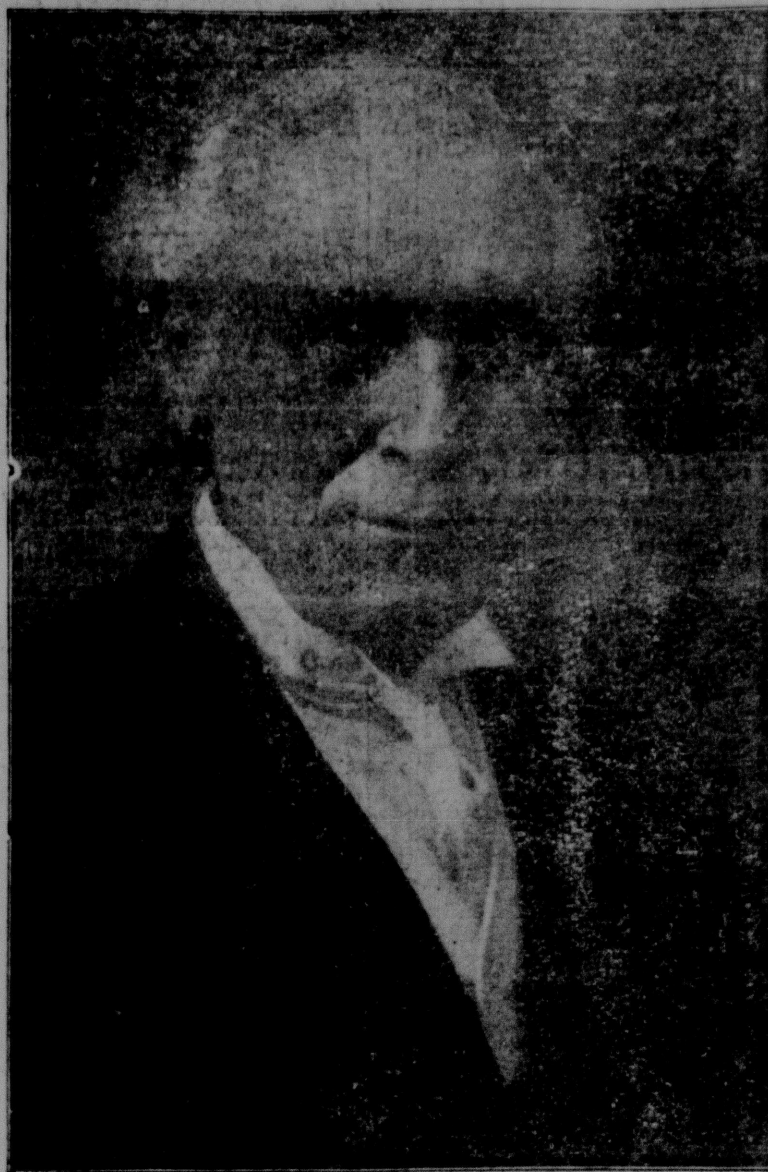

"We have had liberty and have progressed under the constitution, which was adopted in 1789," he said. "It would be a calamity to discard the document now."

State Tax Sources Turning in Money At Speedier Pace

Monthly Income Averaging 12 Millions; Treasury Has 55 Millions

Springfield, Ill.—(P)—With monthly income averaging more than $12,000,000, the Illinois treasury opened the biennium with an increased mid-year balance and larger collections from the major revenue sources.

Miscellaneous sources of income dropped during the first six months of 1935, the July 1 statement by Treasurer John Stelle showed today. Revenues during the first six months of 1935 totaled $74,366,837.37, compared with $75,582,294.32 cash income for the same period a year ago.

Collections this year have been larger for the sales, liquor, motor fuel and motor vehicle taxes, the largest sources of state revenue since the direct levy on property was abandoned two years ago. Increases also were shown for inheritance taxes, trust funds and the Illinois Central railroad.

The biggest decrease was in delinquent property tax payments from past years, which brought $3,472,288.96 into the treasury so far this year, compared with $8,404,426.49 during the first six months of 1934. Less revenue was also collected from insurance companies, corporation taxes, interest on state funds, federal aid to roads and miscellaneous fees, earnings and refunds.

The treasury balance on June 30, the end of the old biennium, was reported at $55,694,472.53 by Stelle, compared with $54,665,551.39 a year ago.

Bonded debts of the state government were reduced $4,280,900.88 during the first six months of this year. In addition, $1,940,000 of tax anticipation notes were retired, leaving only $1,890,000 outstanding in intra-treasury borrowings.

The total outstanding debt on July 1 was $224,718,590.12.

Sales tax revenues were $3,349,471.87 for June, $19,807,574.31 for the first six months and $17,918,005.49 for the first half of 1934. In addition, $1,575,301.83 of sales tax money has been paid into the treasury under protest this year.

Tigers Overwhelm Browns 16 To 1

Young Smith Holds Morgan Aces To Three Blows In Winning Game

Detroit, July 5.—(P)—Hank Greenberg, the Tigers' clouting first baseman, fired a couple of shots at the home run records today when he belted two four baggers and led Detroit in a 16 to 1 rout of the St. Louis Browns.

The victory enabled the Tigers to reduce the New York Yankees' lead to 11 games as the league leaders were kept idle by rain.

Greenberg's home runs were his 24th and 25th of the season, putting him only one circuit swat behind the pace Babe Ruth set at this stage of his famous 1927 home run hitting spurge when he established the major league record of 60 homers in one season. That year Ruth hit his 25th on June 30 and had only one more when he passed the July 4 turning point, getting No. 27 July 8.

In between his two boundary belts, Handy Hank connected for a pair of singles and drew an intentional pass for a perfect day at the plate. He scored on every hit he made. Each homer was made with one teammate on base, the first coming off Russell Van Atta's delivery in the first inning, the other off Dick Coffman in the seventh.

New Dealer Studying Plans to Broaden Tax-Rich Program

May Include Groups Under One Million in Higher Tax Brackets

Washington.—(P)—New Deal circles are studying the advisability of broadening the tax-the-wealth program to reach into the middle income brackets as well as the $1,000,000-a-year class.

Some legislators and experts are known to feel that if the new taxes are levied only on the very wealthiest persons, the revenue resulting would not live up to expectations.

This disclosure came after a White House conference in which plans were laid to push ahead with the tax plan and enact it this session, despite Republican demands that the whole question go over to a special session in the fall.

Meanwhile critics of the plan were giving an inkling of the arguments they will use when it comes to the debate stage. Senator Metcalf (R., R. I.), in a Fourth of July address, called on the country to "register a powerful objection to the levying of confiscatory taxes in order to gain the political support of Socialists and radicals of every stripe."

The American Liberty League called the president's plan a "transparent political gesture."

Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) who attended the White House conference, said some legislators "feel we can get some additional revenue without injustice to business."

Council Approves Returning Property All of Property Taken After World War

Vienna.—(P)—A return of the Hapsburg properties to the ancient royal family—regarded as another step toward the restoration of the monarchy—moved nearer fulfillment today with the approval of the council of state.

The council accepted the measure to "right the wrongs done the Hapsburg family" yesterday, as has Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's cabinet. The bill lacked only the approval of the federal diet and the president's signature to become law, and was expected to be enacted by July 10.

Foreign Minister Egon Bernger-Waldeneis said no international complications would arise from the action as interested nations have already approved the plan.

Indees Tumble Aces In League Game 6-1

Young Smith Holds Morgan Aces To Three Blows In Winning Game

Young Frank Smith's three hit dinging was too much for the Morgan Aces in a Tw-Y-Light league game last night at the high school field, and Smith Indees knocked off the first of the strong contenders for the league title 6 to 1.

The Indees broke loose with a four run assault in their half of the final frame to put the game on ice after they had been held hitless through the first three innings. The fifth inning assault blew Stainforth off the hill, and was completed against Markille.

Cardinals Whip St. Paul 6 To 2

Council Approves Returning Property All of Property Taken After World War

St. Paul, Minn., July 5.—(P)—Dizzy Dean was in his best exhibition game form today when the St. Louis Cardinals played the St. Paul Club of the American Association.

A crowd of 8,000 wanted to see the noted Dizzy take part in the game. But the Red Birds' pitching ace who has a strong aversion to this exhibition game business, could not be persuaded by Manager Frankie Frisch to do so.

But the Cardinals did not need Dean's help today. They won, 6 to 2, with Martin and Medwick hitting homers.

Burns Continuing Drive For Fund For Deaf Olympic Team

THE STANDINGS

Needing at least $200 more, Coach S. Robey Burns is continuing his drive for funds to take John Chudzickiewicz, Illinois School for the Deaf weight throwing ace, to the Deaf Olympics to be held in London, England this fall.

Burns, who plans to leave about the middle of July for a visit with his mother in Washington, D. C., hopes to raise the $350 he has set as the goal for the trip, before leaving for the east.

Business men of the city already have aided in piling up $160 in the campaign treasury, and if sufficient funds are raised it will be an expression of faith not soon to be forgotten by the local school.

Burns, who is going to make the trip at his own expense, will accompany Chudzickiewicz, and supervise his training aboard ship and after they arrive in London. The games are scheduled for the second week in August, and Burns plans to leave the first week in August in order to get as much information as possible about foreign deaf schools.

If the local coach is successful in raising the required funds, the entry of Chudzickiewicz will put the United States in competition for the first time. The entry will assure the United States of a place in the parade of flags, and Burns is confident Big John can win at least three first places, in the shot, discus and javelin, and that he may set records in at least two of the events.

Ocean travel will be nothing new for Chudzickiewicz, however, for the big Polish youngster last summer made the United States Polish team which competed in the Polish olympics at Warsaw. There Chudzickiewicz won a gold medal, and other trophies as the result of his ability with the weights.

Contributions to the fund already have been received from Schram and Buhrman, Peacock Inn, Cosgriff Cafe, Steinheimer Drug Store, Waddells, F. P. Pawker, F. E. Farrell, Lanes Book Store, Otto Speith, Walker and Brown, Russell and Thompson, Farmer's State Bank, Klines, Woolworth, Illinois Telephone Co., J. W. Merrigan, Colonial Inn, Chamber of Commerce, E. Schenz, Jenkinson Grocer Co., Armstrong Drug Stores, Pacific Hotel, Pacific Cafe, Jacksonville News-paper Agency, White Front Cafe, W. B. Rogers, Barr's Laundry, E. Clements, Mrs. W. Wilson.

As a special offer, contributors to the fund will receive a card from London from Big John himself, stating his success in the games.

J. Barber Fires 30 To Win Golf Match

Wins From Russell Carter 5 Up 3 After Being Even At Turn

Scorching the fairways with a blistering 30, two under par, Jerome Barber marched over his first opponent in the Nichols Park match play tournament by a 5 up 3 to play score after being even at the turn. Barber's scorching 30 is believed to be a new record for low scoring in competitive play.

In trouble on the outgoing nine when he lost one hole because he attempted to move some dead grass from behind the ball, and inadvertently moved the ball, Barber dropped in a two on the first green on the second nine, took a four at the second green, a three on the third, and then three fours in a row, to win the match. He completed the round with three straight threes.

Barber's match is the first to be played in the championship flight. The two Maloney brothers, Charles and Frank, shot their way into the second round of the second flight when Charles won from Ford Jackson 3 up 2, and Frank defeated Charles Wolke 4 up 2.

McKinley Bridge is Threatened by Fire

Blaze Destroys Warehouse Near Structure; Traffic is Resumed

St. Louis.—(P)—The McKinley bridge over the Mississippi river was menaced early today by fire that spread from a nearby warehouse.

The blaze, fanned by a heavy wind, swept from the Theiling-Lothman Manufacturing Co. warehouse and ignited wooden piers and lower wooden guard rails on the Missouri side of the bridge. Firemen announced they had the blaze under control and traffic across the structure was resumed.

The fire destroyed the warehouse, which company officials said contained sashes, doors and moldings. Origin of the warehouse fire was undetermined.

A main artery between St. Louis and industries on the Illinois side of the river, the McKinley bridge carried interurban traffic of the Illinois Traction System.

Fire department officials estimated damage to the building and its contents at $50,000. The bridge damage was said to be slight.

Dodgers Smear Giants 14 To 4

New York, July 4.—(P)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, who have fallen into disfavor with their home fans, invaded Manhattan today and took out their grievances on the Giants by smiting the league leaders 14 to 4.

Every one of ten Brooklynites scored at least once and got one or more of the 21 hits off Fred Fitzsimmons. Frank Gabler and Leon Chagnon. Meanwhile Johnny Babich gave the Giants only nine blows and pitched his first complete game since April 25. Jimmy Bucher led the attack with four hits.

Fitzsimmons was driven out in the fifth after giving eleven blows and Gabler retired in the seventh when the assault reached its climax in a five run burst aided by three Giant errors.

Wants Max Baer To Regain Title

Max Baer Wants To Regain Title

New York, July 5.—(P)—Max Baer's bride, the former Mary Ellen Sullivan, has changed her mind and now favors her husband's return to the fistie wars, with the objection of regaining the world heavyweight title, the World-Telegram said today in a copyrighted story.

Interviewed at Long Beach, N. J., Mrs. Baer said:

"I wanted him to quit the ring at first but it's different now that I know him. Fighting isn't a fancy or even a profession with Max—it's just his life. I'm still worried. It's not so much I mind his getting knocked out—I'm afraid he might get some injury that would carry on into his later life. I used to like football until a boy down in Washington was killed and then his mother died of the shock. I've never seen a game since then."

"You see, I thought at first Max loved fighting like a little boy loves a toy. Now I want him to win back the championship for I know how much it means to him. I've never seen a fight and never will. It's brutal and savage but I'll always listen to Max fight over the radio."

Seek Young Man Who Abducted 2 Sisters

Alleged to Have Attacked One During Escapade in Idaho Desert

Rupert, Idaho.—(P)—Officers throughout southern Idaho today sought an unidentified young man who allegedly abducted two sisters, 10 and 14 years old, and, after driving several miles across desert lands to the vicinity of Kimama, locked the younger one in his motorcar and attacked the elder.

Gilbert Grisham, section foreman at Kimama, brought the girls back to Rupert. Sheriff W. F. Mansfield said the abductor had threatened to hold them for ransom, but released them upon being told that their father could pay nothing. Their names were withheld by officers.

C.C. Carter Recalls Visit of Soldiers

Local Man Saw Grant's Regiment March Into Village of Exeter

C. C. Carter, 847 South Main street, read the recent article in the local press in which it was stated that Mrs. Ada Peak is the only living person who saw Grant's regiment march thru the village of Exeter. Mr. Carter said yesterday he distinctly recalls the visit of the Union soldiers to the village. He was at that time about five years old.

Officers preceded the regiment and closed all the saloons in the village while the soldiers marched thru the streets. The regiment left the old fair grounds at Jacksonville early that morning and arrived at Naples the same evening. The soldiers marched on foot.

Mr. Carter says his father was active in the campaign of 1860 in support of Abraham Lincoln. Being only a small boy, Mr. Carter could not say the name Lincoln, but he would manage an occasional "Hurrah for Doudy." This pleased the Democrats in the community who would take the youngster to the village store and treat him to candy.

DOWN WAVERLY WAY

Centennial Year Sketches of Morgan County's Second City

By MRS. GEORGE P. ROMANG

"You cannot think what a fashionable place Waverly is. We are beset with calls at all times of the day. The townsfolk generally visit LaGrange (The Range) mornings and evenings."

The above is quoted from a letter written from Waverly in April 1838, almost one hundred years ago, by one of the pioneer women who helped to build up this part of the country.

She adds: "I have made twenty fine linen shirts and two cotton ones for the same person also a bosom and collar and now I am making a pair of pantaloons."

No ready-to-wear fine shirts were to be had in the new country so the pioneer women spent long hours painstakingly sewing by hand the fine seams in men's linen shirts.

That these families who settled early Waverly were more than satisfied with their new surroundings is attested by the remainder of this old letter. "If you were here," she says to her people back East, "you would hardly think of returning. East, you have no idea what a fine view we have around here. On one side nothing but the vast view of the most beautiful land with a tree once in six miles or so and one or two small groves within the limit of our sight. On the east the vision is 15 miles and there you can just see Sugar Creek timber."

"When the sun is rising we can count the houses in Auburn which is fourteen miles distant. They say they can see how fast Waverly grows when the sun sets and sometimes in the middle of the day we can see each other."

"We have an excellent school here taught by a minister, Mr. Brooks."

What is it that brought these sturdy religious New England families to the then far west? Many of them were college graduates, some were excellent musicians, their ministers were graduates of Yale University—yet they gave up their homes and the culture of old New England, braved the hardships and dangers of a new and wild country. Why?

They seemed not to mind the hardships—they saw the beauty of the rolling prairies, the sunrises and the sunsets. They established schools, good schools for their children with educated teachers brought from New England. They build churches in which to worship.

Central Illinois owes much to the brave pioneer spirit of those eastern families. Her early settlers were not the rough element so often found in new frontiers. They were men and women of high ideals and culture pushing west to establish new homes, free schools and churches.

Recently we take off our hats to the early men and women who built their homes Down Waverly Way.

In April, 1838 the old method of holding wheat and threshing it as needed was evidently in vogue. A letter written from Waverly to Confectionary friends stated that "Deacon Tanner has three or four hundred bushels of wheat and has not got it threshed."

To the early settlers who had tilled only the rocky soil of New England, the vast rich prairie land was full of surprises. They had come to the great central west to improve their condition and we find that even a hundred years ago they were already reaping great rewards.

The writer also stated that three homes were being raised in Waverly and two others being covered. Also that Mr. Salter was then building his brick home just a half mile north of the village. This was the most pretentious house yet built in Waverly, measuring thirty by forty feet, built of brick and three stories high.

Being situated on the crest of a hill overlooking the village to the south, this home was to become a familiar landmark. In recent years it was partly demolished by a tornado and was remodeled into a modern bungalow.

It was the builder of this home who had helped to make the survey of the new village of Waverly early in 1836 and it was he who presented the acreage for a park. In true New England style it occupied the center of the village and was surrounded by homes and stores. It was usually referred to as the "village green."

Containing almost five acres, for many years the "square" was neglected and a board fence was built to keep out straying cattle. Later it was to become a well kept park of which Waverly citizens are justly proud.

This same letter also states that the writer's family had just had logs hewed for a new home. These logs were of immense size and were hewed by hand to proper measure for the foundations and skeleton work of buildings.

HOT WEATHER DANGEROUS FOR WORK HORSES

Delayed Farm Work, Rush
Of Activity May Cause
Animals' Deaths

With the delayed season and farm work in Morgan county far behind, the rush of activity these hot days makes it dangerous for work horses unless they are protected from heat stroke, said Farm Adviser I. E. Parrett.

Two years ago when hot weather followed a late, rainy spring it is promised to do this year, thousands of work horses in Illinois died from heat stroke. These horses had been idle during the rainy season and consequently could not stand the strain when they were pushed to the limit in the efforts of farmers to catch up with their work.

One of the first considerations in protecting horses from heat injury is to see that they are adequately fed and have plenty of water, according to Dr. Robert Graham, chief in animal pathology and hygiene at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. A horse that is underfed and lacking in vigor is especially liable to collapse in hot weather.

Horses that have been idle during the rainy weather will need to be broken gradually to hard work to "season" them. A sudden plunge from idleness into hard work under a broiling sun is almost certain to cause damage.

Even after the horses have been properly seasoned, there is danger unless certain precautions are followed. Prominent among these is the use of common sense in resting the horses when they need it and driving them at a reasonable gait.

Salt and water, used in plentiful quantities, will help horses withstand hot weather, said Dr. Graham. Since heat injury is usually caused by the loss of body minerals through perspiration, plenty of salt will help replace this loss. A finely-ground mixture of salt and limestone at the rate of three parts limestone and one part salt should be kept in the feed box at all times. Or it may be mixed with feed at the rate of two handfuls twice a day.

Water is an absolute necessity in hot weather. It can be taken to the field on extremely hot days, when watering the animals every hour is not too often.

Even with all these precautions, a horse will occasionally suffer a heat stroke. If symptoms of a stroke develop, the affected horse should be put in the shade at once and a veterinarian called. Ice packs and cold water, judiciously employed, together with a teaspoonful of salt in the mouth, are helpful until the veterinarian arrives.

Affair With Maid Does Not Warrant Legal Separation

Judge However Grants Divorce To New York Woman
On Other Grounds

White Plains, N. Y., July 5.—(AP)—A husband's affair with his wife's pretty French maid, if conducted discreetly and quietly, does not warrant legal separation on grounds of adultery, Supreme Court Justice Raymond E. Aldrich ruled today.

Justice Aldrich's finding was made in granting separation on grounds of desertion to Mrs. Etta S. Miller from Robert McWilliam Miller, Manhattan attorney.

Mrs. Miller had alleged her husband had been unduly attentive to her French maid, Mile, Marguerite Jeanneret, who, testifying in Mrs. Miller's behalf, admitted misconduct with Miller for six months.

"I believe," ruled Justice Aldrich, "from observing her (Mile Jeanneret) on the stand and the surrounding circumstances that her statement of her relations with the defendant is true."

"But those relations were of a clandestine nature, quite concealed from the plaintiff (Mrs. Miller) and unknown to the public. In my opinion such evidence does not measure up to the test of adultery as ground for separation under decisions of the court of appeals."

The court, however, found grounds for abandonment of Mrs. Miller and their two small children, Robert McWilliam, Jr., 7, and Patricia Ann, 9, when Miller was alleged to have walked out of their 19-room home at New Rochelle, in 1933.

He awarded Mrs. Miller $50 a week alimony, although she had asked for $1,000 a month.
